

Bioriginal EFA Powders

What are Bioriginal EFA Powders?

Bioriginal EFA oils are microencapsulated into free-flowing, stable, dispersible powders. This increases the opportunities for EFAs in a variety of applications, such as functional foods, dietary supplements and specialty nutrition.

Why Choose Bioriginal's EFA Powders?

Bioriginal's partner, Kievit, which is located in The Netherlands, has many years of experience in creating stable powders. They operate a state-of-the-art filtermat drying technology system to manufacture top-quality EFA powders with high oil load. These EFA powders consist of a proprietary matrix which surrounds the oil particles together with a proprietary natural antioxidant system which results in the best quality product possible.
